

PEDIATRICS®

Pediatrics Editorial Fellow Responsibilities

Designed to enable trainees in residency or fellowship training to experience the workings of our journal as well as editorial management and social media tactics.

Trainees will participate in monthly staff and editorial board conference calls and develop and implement a research study involving medical publication issues.

Participate in working with the executive editorial board members in all aspects of the editorial process / workflow of the journal.

Participate in journal social media activities and potentially suggest new innovations to enhance the journal.

Assist associate and assistant editors in their specific duties or sections of the journal.

Participate in journal research and scholarship.

Able to function in this role from home institution through conference calls, webinars, phone and computer access.

Able to attend the annual Editorial Board meeting held concurrently with the NCE meeting of AAP.

Solicit advice, ideas and opinions from peers and colleagues regarding journal policy, direction, product, and design.

Qualifications

Students, residents, or fellows currently enrolled in a postgraduate training program.

American Academy of Pediatrics

DEDICATED TO THE HEALTH OF ALL CHILDREN®

